Gigantic New Artillery Displayed By Germany to Hungarian Regent

FIVE TRUCKS REQUIRED TO MOVE ONE GUN

New Weapons Are Largest Ever Known to Be Moved by Motor Transport

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Foreign military observers believe Germany has demonstrated that her army stands in the front ranks of a re-arming Europe.

Friday they settled down to digest what they saw in the way of technical equipment when Chancellor Hitler paraded a fraction of the tremendous store of military equipment recently before Hungary's visiting army, Admiral Nicholas Horthy.

The experts pointed to a new type of gun as the biggest surprise. Also cited were evidences that Germany is continuing to push with rapid development of tanks and other mechanization.

PARADE IMPRESSIVE

The show, in which more than 15,000 men with their equipment took two hours to pass the reviewing stand, further indicated, the observers said, that German strategy had been working overtime to fit equipment to the needs of an army which Hitler has been building for five years.

Perhaps overshadowing all else in the significance were four formidable new guns which military experts said were the largest they ever knew to be moved in motor transport.

Each of the guns were dismantled for movement in five trucks for each gun, and since the show was given to the Hungarian king, the mysterious "Big Bertha" of the great War—the new weapon had been gassing.

To practical military eyes the weapons—popularly called Germany's "anti-Magnum" type—appeared to be of the 280-mm. 15-inch calibre with a barrel about 40 feet long. The only smaller larger gun they had seen had been mounted on railway cars or on battlements.

The significance lay chiefly in the fact that the Germans had succeeded in making such a gun for motor transport, retaining its great advantage in mobility over railway guns.

Another new weapon which caught the eye was an eight-ton Howitzer, also for motorized movement.

The foreign military experts seemed impressed by Germany's strides in building tank units and putting the army on wheels.

Roosevelt Says Scheme Is Short Cut To Utopia

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 27.—President Roosevelt said Friday that a proposal being discussed in California to give $30 weekly pensions to all persons over 50 can be described as a short cut to Utopia.

The president said he hoped the governments social security system could be developed year by year. But he warned "against those who advocate short cuts to Utopia or fantastic financial schemes."

ing for a solution of the Sudeten German problem, peculiar to Czechoslovakia and might be forced to take stronger steps. This was interpreted in some quarters as a veiled threat of invasion.

Germany is reported to have tried the Balkan nations that support for the Sudeten German "with all the means in her power" should not be construed as a threat to Czechoslovakia. This failed to relieve the tension to any appreciable extent.

Informed opinion takes the view the situation will hold for a while and there is no immediate danger of open conflict. The next step in the Czechoslovakian domestic matter seemed to be up to the Sudeten Germans and their leader, Konrad Henlein, now the Czechoslovak government has outlined a new plan to meet the requirements of the German minority.

Britain issued a plea to "all quarters" to join the league in Czechoslovakia.

"Emergency" measure designed to prevent loss of American wheat exports to other major wheat producing countries, several of which have announced they would subsidize exports.

MUST SUBSIDIZE

A survey showed, officials said, that because of a bumper wheat crop and the subsidy program, the United States could not expect to export more than 10,000,000 bushels during the current marketing year unless it met subsidies with subsidies. The United States sold 84,000 bushels abroad during the past marketing year.

Actions of the United States government and Premier of the American states for the first time that of France's national wheat effort in fixing the price for the 1938 domestic crop at the equivalent of $1.50 a bushel. The price, based on cost of living index, was 15 cents a bushel lower than that set for 1937 crop.

Although details of the export program were withheld pending purchases of the grain, reliable United States sources in Washington said it would be the government's policy to provide the government with the grain and sell it in foreign markets for export at a price which would be in competition with other grain.

MONEY AVAILABLE

Officials said the agriculture department had about $25,000,000 available to meet any losses that might be incurred. The money would be taken from $14,000,000 in customs receipts which congress appropriated for the removal of agricultural surpluses from regular markets.

MINE CAVE-IN PROVES FATAL TO CALGARIAN

CALGARY, Aug. 27.—Terribly crushed in a rock fall at the Oilfield mine at Carbon, 13 miles northeast of Calgary, Harry Moody, 24-year-old Calgary boy, died in a speeding ambulance taking him to Drumheller hospital Friday afternoon.

Rock Fall Crushes Harry Moody To Death At Oilfield

The youth was rescued from beneath the rocks, which piled up to 20 feet, 20 minutes after the accident, by a fire rescue crew. He was placed in the mine ambulance after being given emergency treatment at the pit mouth.

PARTNER ESCAPES

W. J. McInnis, Moody's partner, escaped injury in the fall. The two miners were timbering a cross-cut when a part of the roof caved, the falling rocks struck Moody and pinning him down.

His head and chest were crushed. Remains were taken to a funeral home in Drumheller where the ambulance reached the city and plans were being made Friday night for an inquest to be held Tuesday.

Toronto Mayor Favors Lending Cash For Relief

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Mayor Ralph Day Friday expressed approval of a municipal loan scheme to help "reliable" relief recipients become self-supporting by lending them money without interest.

He said the plan would have his support "providing federal and Ontario governments would accept part of the responsibility."

used or how much destruction it would do or how many casualties it would cause. In another last-minute insertion, Sir John Simon added this warning:

"This very case of Czechoslovakia may be so critical for the future of Europe that it would be impossible to assume a limit to the conflict which a conflict might involve and everyone in every country who considers the consequences has to bear that in mind."

Without mentioning Chancellor Hitler of Germany, Sir John said an unmistakable plea to the French to take outside pressure off the Czech minority quarter.

Sir John spoke at a Conservative rally in the Carleton Place conference during the week with the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary, Viscount Halifax, after a week of alarming reports from Prague and Berlin over the Czech situation.

Alberta College Has Record of 35 Years Educational Service

Entering its thirty-sixth year, Alberta College this fall surveys its thirty-five years of educational service, having in that time grown from a vision of a pioneer missionary to one of the most prominent among the secondary schools of Canada.

In 1903 were taken the first steps toward realizing the wishes of Rev. George McDougall who visualized the need for educational facilities in the far-flung city of Edmonton, headquartered his homestead on the north bank of the Saskatchewan river to the Methodist church for educational and missionary purposes.

Members of the church board started organization work and, by the fall of 1903, the first class of Alberta College were held in room over a store on Jasper avenue. Sixty-seven students enrolled for the first term, in three departments of academic, business and music under the direction of the first principal, Rev. Dr. H. H. Riddell, of "Salem College, Winnipeg."

COLLEGE GROWS

From that modest beginning the college grew during the years to the present student body of 1,250, and to date 35,250 names have been written on the college register. Since its first year, the college has added 1,035 since 1903. With improved conditions lately in the district from which the student body is drawn, larger enrollment is anticipated for the next year.

Consistent with the vision of Alberta College came the name of its present principal, Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall, who in 1903, after 25 years as a pioneer, to which he was a teacher for five years. With Dr. McCall in 1903, in 1903, 25 years of service as D. W. Hyndman, of the business department, W. J. McCall, of the music department, W. G. Heath, registrar, and Mr. T. Smith, master.

The present building housing the college was built in 1904 while a new building, started in 1928, is located on Macleod drive. At present, on conditions pending, work on the new building is being done and the centre and west sections of the new college location will be completed. At present, the building is used for teachers of high school subjects and as a residence for students.

High standing obtained by Alberta College students and their success in earning a niche for themselves in the business and professional world, bring a glow of pride to the teaching staff. Dr. McCall recalls that over 200 Alberta College graduates have gone on to graduate from the University of Toronto.

Regular department of education curriculum is followed by the academic department of the college, with departmental examinations and supervision by attendance officers.

COMMERCIAL CLASSES

In addition to academic work in preparation for university entrance, students of the college may receive instruction in the commerce department, with classes in all branches of office and secretarial work. Popularity of the commerce department among the students is the awarding of over 500 diplomas and certificates during the past term.

A Prophet's Voice

Anthony Eden, six months ago last Saturday, trudged slowly away from No. 10 Downing Street with a sad smile on his face as he realized that he was no longer foreign secretary. He had resigned in protest against a policy of appeasement. He had resigned for the sake of an ideal. He had given up the rewards of office in order to keep on good terms with his conscience.

Today, in his dispatch to The Bulletin, Mr. Eden speaks with the thunder lips of a prophet in favor of resistance based upon law. The cynic's sneer has not robbed him of his idealism, his most precious quality and his legacy to British politics. He is an oracle of democracy to which men who love peace well may listen, for the dark cloud his vision glimpsed months ago, when it was no bigger than a fist, has now covered the sky. What he said, has truly come to pass.

The policy of protecting England's interests by sacrificing the interests of other nations has been tried. It has failed. The policy of shaking hands with tyranny has not ended unrest in Europe. It has simply painted the purple of England's misadventure. The Italian treaty still is barren. The war in Spain still goes on with terrifying intensity. Upon the ruins of liberty the dictators rear their triumphs as monuments to the strength of hate and the folly of peace.

Mr. Eden joins issue with that pernicious doctrine. He pleads for unity to ensure peace. On no other basis can it be had. He asks for as much loyalty to liberty as Hitler and Mussolini get from their servile states for the doctrine of dictatorship. It must be granted that the dictators who are ready to follow the drums and bugles of war but are unwilling to enlist under the flag of peace?

A prophet is without honor in his own country. But this prophet gave up his honors in order to lead and save his country. The memories of the dead, the aspirations of the living, the tragedies of the past and the hopes of peace, all solemnly unite to sanction Mr. Eden's prophetic appeal and to pray that his call for a spiritual awakening in defence of democracy will not be lost either upon England, upon the Empire or upon the world.

Rugby

When the football season opens today at Clarke stadium, Edmonton embarks on a major civic enterprise. The work of the Boosters' Club has stirred up the spirit in this sport that makes all citizens share in the glories or vicissitudes that await the local team. It is fitting too that the first game should be against Calgary. Twisting the tails of the Bronks would delight everyone in Edmonton.

The good wishes of all rugby fans—and that means the whole city this year—goes out in overflowing measure to Bob Fritz and his merry men as they carry the standards of Edmonton into the rugby wars.

That Arms Contract

Before analyzing Colonel Drew's remarks on the Bren machine gun contract awarded to the John Inglis Co. of Toronto by the Canadian government, it is necessary to strip his criticism of a false air of authority.

The editor of the national magazine in which his attack appears prefaces the article by a caption that Colonel Drew's statements are based on records of the department of national defence as of August 5. Hon. Ian MacKenzie, who is the responsible head of that department, categorically denies any such claim. "No legitimate access to departmental records of any date has been had by Colonel Drew or by anyone purporting to represent him. No information for such access was made to any responsible officer of the department," the defence minister declared in a formal statement.

It is clear then that Colonel Drew's charges about the "mysterious contract" are simply those of an individual, and the boast about the official data on which they are based is an arrogant pretence.

But there is no excuse for Colonel Drew ignoring facts of general public knowledge in order to cast suspicion on the conduct of the defence minister in arranging this contract.

either then or later, and was even willing that they go before the public accounts committee. The House of Commons was in possession of the facts and it approved the Inglis contract.

What is this contract? It is an arrangement between the Canadian government and a Toronto firm for the manufacture of 7,000 Bren machine guns. No license can be granted to make these guns except by the British war office, which also controls their specifications. The race of England to learn leaves her without time to act as an arsenal for Canada; in fact, she was anxious to have 5,000 Bren guns equipped for her in London to ease the strain of her own prodigious rearmament effort. Major Hahn, now head of the John Inglis Company, was given permission by British officials to manufacture these guns, and by concluding a contract with that company, which at one had the requisite authority from London, Canada was able to save $1,300,000.

The English government did not agree to the Canadian suggestion that the contract be placed by tender. Mr. MacKenzie says, because the urgent international peril forbade it to countenance delay.

A defence minister is not to be trifled with. Mr. MacKenzie is the last person in parliament to ask for a "hush hush" policy in connection with the defence department. He always has been ready, indeed eager, to put facts before the House of Commons and has been untiring in speaking all over Canada about the objective and progress of the defence program now absorbing the attention of the government.

All he asks is that discussion of defence be conducted with sober responsibility, with vision, and with strict unswerving fidelity to fact. It is unfortunate that Colonel Drew married an otherwise cogent case for evidence about the objective and administrative unity between British Columbia and Alberta. Anything that hinders the growth of trade between the two provinces is to be condemned. An open market in the hands of Alberta kiddies helps keep the ball off away from the Okanagan fruit grower.

The Passing Show

By J. K. COWPER

Every old sailor secretly nurses the hope of ending his days on a little farm adrift, just as most prairie youths yearn for a life aloft. It's the desire for change, natural in all you feel the heat of life. All of us are better for occasional changes of scene and interest.

Twenty-five youngsters WHAT HO THERE from Omaha, Nebraska, who have sailed to Seattle, 2,000 miles from the sea.

Pacific and 1,800 miles from the Atlantic ended a 2,000 mile cruise the other day. They had drifted from Seattle in a 40 foot sailing craft, handling their own sails, cooking their own meals, making their own beds and finding their own fun. They had navigated the "inland passage," calling at Vancouver, Port and lumber camps, crossing the open sound till they reached Ketchikan in Alaska where they turned for home.

They had trained for the trip, learning seamanship on a two-masted brigantine with square sail on her foremast, built on the shores of Lake Superior, with the old City Sackville still on hand, to build a sizeable sailing craft for the Sea Scouts on one of the bigger lakes near Edmonton, and learn how to handle a small ship in a sea way.

Alberta housewives may be able to buy fruit at less than the prices that are being charged by the Okanagan apple growers that an illegal embezzlement of the fruit trade. They say that certain packers, but they are not sure, and others juggle sales between each other in such a way that the grower is robbed of one and the consumer pays for two.

Some years ago an illegal embezzlement was found to exist in the fruit trade and some fines were levied.

The B.C. government will arrange a provincial investigation if the federal government doesn't order a federal enquiry. A federal enquiry would be able to get the truth out of the brokerage houses in the prairie provinces. Ottawa promises an investigation under the Competition Act.

When you go along looking at luscious Redwits, Transparents, Delicous, McIntosh Redwits, and other choice apples from the Okanagan, you will be the grower only if you get a pound by dint of threatening a strike, and lifting the fruit. "A cent a pound or on the ground" is the slogan of the apple growers.

Men in business and politics at the coast are coming to see the benefits that could be achieved if there was a closer relationship between British Columbia and Alberta. Anything that hinders the growth of trade between the two provinces is to be condemned. An open market in the hands of Alberta kiddies helps keep the ball off away from the Okanagan fruit grower.

The Okanagan tomato growers are worrying too—this time about the competition of cheap labor in foreign countries. The price set by the growers of the luscious fruit—yes, fruit, not vegetables—came near to being left to rot in the fields this year.

Prevaling wages in the cannery industry is 30 cents an hour, compared to 20 cents in Ontario and 15 cents in Quebec. In addition to higher wages the B.C. cannery must pay more for its tomatoes than the Marketing Board's 20 per cent higher than that by the Marketing Board in Ontario. One cannery in Vernon claimed to be losing $800 a day.

A compromise has been made to get the cannery working and prevent crop loss. Men take 35 cents an hour instead of 30 cents and boys 25 cents instead of 20 cents.

Shiploads of cheap canned fruits and vegetables come by water from Montreal to Vancouver to be shipped by rail to Alberta, where they compete against the canned goods of B.C. It is regrettable that this home competition should cause a cut in wages in the west. Union workers and others who believe in maintaining high living standards are not to be blamed for these facts. It might help them in their choice when they buy canned goods. Progress usually entails some minor sacrifices.

Whether you use lamb, veal, mutton or pork chops, the main thing is to learn how to prepare them. It is a simple matter, and a good cooking these small slices of meat, the housewife soon learns how to bring out the best flavor and also to make the most of the meat.

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON.—(By Mail).—The tremendous expenditure on armaments has postponed indefinitely two great public works the necessity of which is admitted on all hands. These are the highway bridges over the Humber and Forth which would materially shorten the road to the north.

Mr. Burgin, minister of transport, did not put it that way to the House, but it is known that the treasury has set its face against any expenditure the need for which is overwhelmingly proved. The inhibition applies also to the proposed Severn bridge.

To the argument that the construction would increase the demand for steel and so provide employment, the minister replied that the total steel would be needed for the three bridges would be only half a week's output.

In point of fact, the indications are that we are at the beginning of an epoch of unemployment. A number of newspapers have drawn attention to the heavy increase both in national and local taxation.

This has caused fears in some quarters that a drive on social commitments is contemplated in government circles. It is pretty certain, however, that neither but the clerical presentment will bring Mr. Chamberlain to consent to a reduction of these, though expansion must avoid inevitably be checked.

The cook in a small family often finds it economical to use some type of chop for the meat dish. In the United States, the favorite chop is the lamb chop, but in this country the mutton chop is more desired in England. The mutton chop is of course from a more mature sheep, and is larger than the lamb chop. The English chop is of course from a more mature sheep, and is larger than the lamb chop.

Our term chop refers to a small piece or slice of meat which has been chopped off, which is used in the lamb chop, but in this country the mutton chop is more desired in England. The mutton chop is of course from a more mature sheep, and is larger than the lamb chop.

I suggest that the best method of cooking chops is to place them in the water, and then, after they have been broiled by being put in a hot skillet without any fat, turning them over, and then broiling them in the water. This method is the best, and is the one that is used in the best of the world.

The veal chop provides a very tasty food. It is a good food, and is the one that is used in the best of the world. It is a good food, and is the one that is used in the best of the world. It is a good food, and is the one that is used in the best of the world.

With many people the pork chop is the favorite, and we must admit that pork chops do have a certain agreeable flavor which is easy to like. I find that one of the best ways to prepare pork meat is in the form of these pork chops, although I suggest that at least part of the fat be removed before cooking. The chops should then be thoroughly broiled, and the result will be a delicious chop meal will be found to be appetizing, comparatively inexpensive, and pleasing to the appetite. During the summer, many people find the chop meal very convenient, and it is quickly cooked and consequently their cooking need not heat up the kitchen to the same extent as would be the case with a roast.

Chops may also be used on picnic, taking the chops along with you and cooking them just before serving. This is a very easy way to take such vegetables as cucumbers, lettuce, and celery with you wrapped either in wax paper or a damp cloth.

Mr. W. R. McAdam, positioned C.P.R. engineer from the Algoma district, eastern lines, and Mrs. McAdam, were interesting visitors to the superintendent's offices at Edmonton recently. After forty-eight years of successful railroad work, Mr. McAdam climbed down from the cab of his engine at Cheltenham, Ontario, where he has made his home for thirty years, on June 20, last, drew off his overalls for the last time and received an honorable discharge from the company he had served so loyally for almost half a century. With no orders or schedules to carry out, and no thundering steel plans to watch over, Mr. McAdam and his wife are out to enjoy their leisure time to the full. Rumor to visit friends in Grande Prairie they slipped off in Edmonton for a short time, and because "once a railroad, always a railroad" Mr. McAdam could not resist a coat about the good old days of transportation and the good "new" days to come, of which he hopes to enjoy a good many, having earned them by right of a good job well done.

Members of the express agents office, C.P.R. Edmonton, will be hosts to the friends of Miss Cora Vance, who leaves shortly to take over her new work in the express department at Vancouver, on Saturday morning, August 27, at a banquet and entertainment in the Cora hotel. Officers and employees alike joined in wishing Miss Vance every success in her new position.

Noticed in the Canadian Pacific's 1938 street station the other day was C. Kernshaw, formerly C.P.R. agent at Breton, and recently appointed to the same position at Orkney, Alberta. Before taking over his new duties, Mr. Kernshaw intends to present working in the chief dispatcher's office at Edmonton.

Junior Authors' Club Picks Up After Slack Holiday Term: School Is Subject Of Poems

Edmonton Bulletin Junior Authors Return to Young People's Page After Several Weeks' Absence—Ready For School Again

Hello Juniors!

The corner was no large this week, that the Editor thought it worthy of a place near the top of the page, so she has put it under a separate heading for you. When you really respond as you did this week, then it seems worth while for us to carry on.

Do you remember a story written by Frank Gue, about a dog named "Tab" who was the constant companion of a blind news vendor in Vancouver? Well here is the last, and sad sequel to his story.

Dear Editor:

I send you a story some time ago concerning a blind news vendor and his dog, Tab.

The blind man said alone now; Tab is dead.

The great dog passed away peacefully in his sleep several days ago, with the inscription of his name on the Dogdom Hall of Honor and the International Diploma of Honor to his credit. Many are the citizens of Vancouver and other cities in the Dominion and the United States who are sorrowing at the death of the faithful and infinitely wise old dog.

And I think that many Vancouverites, as they buy their morning paper, will see a dog's head on the cover, and still there, close beside it, the blind man's face. And they never die, and if anyone ever deserved the title of brave old soul, I believe Tab does, doesn't you?

A Junior Author, Frank Gue.

Colin Campbell Wins 3rd Prize

Bavli friends are extending hearty congratulations to C. Colin Campbell who won third prize in an essay contest sponsored by the Automotive Industries last spring to pupils in the schools of the three provinces.

Colin's essay, which won a prize of $50, was entitled "The Automobile Industry," and was written while he was a patient at the University Hospital, Edmonton, suffering from poliomyelitis. He returned to school after a long stay of last week, and is able to get about now with the aid of crutches.

What the Automotive Industries has done for the boy is the title of all essays entered in the contest.

There had been 67 prize winners in Alberta.

"How exciting! Joan couldn't find words to tell Joan, and she slipped away so happy as a lark."

Your Junior, Gail Churchill, 10405 45 Avenue.

Dear Editor:

I am sorry I neglected writing for so long. I have been at Margaret Beach and completely forgot about the club. I wrote a poem about school to which we are soon returning.

Your Junior, Barbara Dale Smith.

SCHOOL

School is the only place for me. Maybe it is hard for you to see. But if I didn't go there, I fear that I should have to shed a tear.

To start out right in life, we need to learn to get along with people. We have to know a lot of things, what we know our occupation.

And we had nothing in our hand. We would find it hard to earn our bread.

Back to school we all must go. We learn to get along with people. And when our schooling is finally done.

Half our battle of life is won. So now it is easy for you to see. And so it is easy for I were you. To go to school and study.

You certainly have the right idea. You are, thank you very much, in a way of school, and all it means is to go to school and study. It seems as though it isn't worth the time put in, but in the long run it is a worth while thing to do. And when you want or need something, come to this tree, take a ring and put it on the tree. Make sure you are not one. Then make your wish and put the ring in the tree, when you are three times and then walk away.

by P. Hamilton Goodsell

People acquire dogs in different ways; sometimes by adopting a stray that has followed some member of the family home as a gift, by taking from some animal shelter, and lastly by purchase. All methods of acquisition in my opinion, except the latter are fraught with danger, and the possibility of trouble and disappointment. There is only one safe manner in which to acquire a dog. First, to determine if the conditions under which the dog lives are fair to the dog, to oneself and the neighbors. Second, have one or more other responsible members of the family, the father or mother, willing to properly care for and train the dog.

Dogs offered as gifts, unless purchased for that special purpose, are only too frequently the result of the owner's poor judgment, and the result of some falling that their owner has not been able to overcome. This column will be of great help to readers requesting it, the name of the secretary of the club devoted to the interests of the particular breed they wish to acquire, and the names of reliable breeders, with whom it will be safe to deal.

Many make the mistake of thinking that a dog is a simple creature, and that it can be trained by the use of force. This is a great mistake. A dog is a creature of great intelligence, and it must be trained by the use of reason and kindness.

For white dogs, one of the breeds of dogs, the white dog can be used effectively. Never bathe a puppy until it is at least six months old, and never bathe a dog of any age without making sure that it does not get sunburned afterwards by being left out before dry, or allowed to lie in a draft.

Mr. Goodsell will be glad to answer letters about dogs, exclusive of those dealing with the use of force. If you will write him at "Pawprint, White Plains, New York."

Enterprising American Youngster Coins Money As Playground Master

Jimmy Fede, Newark, N.J., led eleven youngsters to several of his younger patrons, is coming money these days as a playground proprietor.

Jimmy charges his 25 customers cents each for the right to play in his back yard, and throws in a snack of hot corn, Bologna and cheese sandwiches.

And so, Mr. neighborhood stuff goes in Jimmy's rear, this makes the boys bring their money. Jimmy says that his first week's business was $1.00, in which case he will add meat balls and spaghetti to the menu.

Boy Scout Doings

Scout camping is one of the biggest features of the scouting program. All over the province the boys are learning to get along with nature in the wild.

At the junction of the Red River and the St. Lawrence, a group of boys from the St. Lawrence Valley, Quebec, were camping in the woods.

Junior G-Men Come Back In Early Autumn

Originated in Vancouver, the Junior G-Men is fast getting a foothold throughout the prairie provinces.

During the winter and spring months, the society was active in Edmonton, and, according to E. C. Holub, secretary for the Junior G-Men, things are at a standstill until the middle or latter part of September, when children who are here at school feel the need of a vacation hobby.

Such as is supplied for the young people at the local city.

The community leagues have given every support to the movement, and in Riverdale, Westwood and McCauley, meetings have been held, at which the enthusiastic response of the audience was most gratifying.

NEEDS SUPPORTS

In an interview with a Vancouver reporter, Mayor George C. Miller of that city said:

"I am absolutely in favor of the Junior G-Men. I can see untold good for them. They are a year from coming to the city."

"I can see how clubs in which the boys can follow the same line of exuberant youth will keep them off the streets, not to dangerous surroundings."

NEEDS PUBLIC AID

"I am all for it. But it must be a community effort. It needs the cooperation of the public, it needs to come from the people, not from the government."

"The Junior G-Men is a commendation of prominent business men who have pledged their active interest in the movement."

Little French Doll Can Write, Draw; Is Automatic

While many men have dreamed of robots that could be made to do the work of man, the late success of creating a mechanical marvel that can compare with the dainty little French doll was a reality.

What is more, although Maitland's figure is a mechanical marvel, it is not a French invention. It is a French invention named Maitland, who was famous for his mechanical devices about 200 years ago. Alone in his laboratory he conceived this complicated mechanism which works entirely by clock, pinions and gears to produce the perfect imitation of a person writing, painting and drawing.

She wanted to go back—to return to her Blue Grass; to hear the thud of pounding hoofs on the home stretch.

Beginning a Galloping Story of Blue Grass Turf and Dashing Blue Grass Love

CHAPTER I

"You may think I'm crazy," the girl was pleading to be understood, "but I'm not sure I want to take your offer. The publisher's eyes narrowed. He said suavely, 'Perhaps there's something else you want. Surely it isn't more money?'"

"No," Linda Gordon shook her head. "And I do want to be staff writer on your magazine, it's a lifetime chance. But—"

"The big man across the desk leaned forward. 'But what?'"

"It's hard to put in words," she broke off, glanced out the open window, across the roofs of Manhattan. Her gaze focused on something far above the skyline: an eagle, emitting streams of smoke—vapor which the name of a cigarette, also the name of a great horse which had won the Derby and the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

She wanted to go home! She was fed up with the fight and rush and loneliness of the city. She wanted to go back where people were friendly—wanted to return to her Blue Grass, to hear the thud of hooves on the home stretch, to see the Derby and the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

inherited a flock of dollars from an uncle—sets up a country gentleman! Shucks! He's a—"

"Yes, a bum," she repeated the words for him, her face sobering. "Don't be jealous, Monte. I'm afraid I don't love you, but Bruce Radford certainly would be the last man I'd marry after what he did to Uncle Sandy."

"To Uncle Sandy?"

"Remember the beecher uncle who reared me?"

"On, sure! When I was a youngster I saw him in the tracks. He was a big shot; had a great stable."

"A big shot—then," she corrected. "But now—old and broke. Monte, I've just written a letter to Bruce Radford. He's forced him to pay something he should never have been called on for. He's old and broke, but he's paid up. Now, he's sick, and he's a thin dime. He doesn't ask it, but I'm going home to him."

"Say! Well marry, send him money."

"No," she was positive. "Besides, it's the human touch he needs—and someone to feed for him against those Radfords."

"That you will marry me—"

"No, Monte, no! She shook her head at him. 'Forget all that, won't you? You've been a swell friend. Let it stand that way.'"

The man gave her a bitter disappointment. He tugged at his coat again, asked: "But what are you going to do about the money? You're asking to live on—"

"Hand back under her chin an instant. She hadn't figured that out. Then an impulse took her and her eyes sparkled. She smiled up at him: "Monte, there's a way. I'm going to the Blue Grass. I'll scratch dirt—and I'll win."

B. C. GOVERNMENT URGED TO ASSUME EDUCATION COST

KELOWNA, B.C., Aug. 27.—Delegates to the British Columbia Labour Association convention here Friday wound up their two-day sessions after suggesting a permanent solution to financial problems of municipalities and the provincial government abandon the present system of grants to such districts and assume, instead, the entire burden of current educational costs.

Premier T. A. Pattullo said he had no objection to the plan, but it was clearly understood the convention action placed the government under no obligation to institute such a scheme before it felt the time was ready.

Another resolution reiterated previous pledges of the party to "urge the completion of a railway from Vancouver to Prince George and to find adequate transportation facilities to the Pacific coast for settlers in the Peace River block."

Young Girl Has Leg Broken In Auto Accident

OLDS, Alta., Aug. 27.—When carried by George Farr, Calgary, and Harry Gilmour of Hartman, the head-on 20 miles northwest of here Thursday afternoon, Florence Gilmour, 13, suffered a broken leg and severe shock and bruises.

She was taken to the hospital by the Red Cross. Her father, Mr. Gilmour, said she was suffering from shock and bruises about the face and head.

Two Die In Crash
BARNSTABLE, Mass., Aug. 27.—Dr. Victor Eduardo Verdades de Paris, consul general of Portugal at New York, and his wife, Katherine, were killed Thursday when their automobile was struck by a Hyannis-Boston train.

What's New On Records
BEING A REVIEW OF THE BEST NOW BEING REVIEWED FOR GRAMOPHONES

By JOHN OLIVER
Latest RCA-Victor records to hand reveal a widely varied musical fare and a high standard in both interpretation and recording, which in the set result provides a series of records which would adorn any library.

Few musicians have revealed on records so much music that is unusual and charming as Frank Black. Black is the general musical director of the N.B.C. He is a pianist of outstanding ability and is one of the front rank orchestralists in the United States. As the conductor of various programs he has won considerable success.

THE PROGRAM
In the latest Victor parcel of records, the N.B.C. String Symphony Orchestra, under Frank Black's direction, provides a program of music, which is included in a record album. This is the second in the program series by this orchestra, the first having come out several months ago and immediately became popular.

Included is the Brahms Love Song Waltz, No. 1 to 12, a love poem by Schubert, Rakasata-The Lover—in which are depicted The Lover's Path, Good Night and Farewell—and a Sinfonietta by Albert Roussel.

This is a pleasantly devised program, including waltzes by two favorite composers—Brahms and Schubert—and a music which is well on the way to becoming a favorite in the household, if music lovers as a whole always could be assured of hearing his music as played under Black's direction.

WELL CONTRASTED
The Brahms waltzes reveal the unusual contrast in his rhythmic by way of contrast in his rhythmic. In addition there was a charming melody and ingratiating rhythms.

The Sibelius tone poem is an idyllic work, colorful, light-warm and melodiously rich. It is scored with the mastery exhibited by Sibelius in all his works.

Roussel, comparatively recently deceased, is well represented by his Sinfonietta, which bids fair to become one of the most popular in later-day French compositions. Roussel's music has won new friends in the last few years and this recording undoubtedly will do much to win him many more.

IMMIGRATION HERE 12,000 IS YEAR'S RECORD

European Countries Prohibit People Taking Money Out of Land

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—People who could comply with Canadian requirements and would be welcome as immigrants are not anxious to come and those who are anxious to come cannot comply with the immigration regulations. That is why immigration to this country has almost dried up, according to official circles here.

Immigration last year was about 12,000 and until Europe settles down and farming conditions in Canada improve these officials see no plan to force the flow that would be economically feasible.

RAILWAYS WOULD HELP
The railways and other transportation companies and manufacturing concerns are anxious to have selected immigration encouraged on a particular line, particularly in the west, where the need of people who will go on the land.

"Our experience," said a department official, "is that farming operations are against immigration. They ask us why we should bring out more people to grow wheat when it is going to be quite a job to sell the wheat grown by people already here."

The speeches of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, during his British Columbia tour this week, have brought to light here the almost forgotten question of immigration, and it was learned that the government has no immediate intention of changing its policy, which is to allow in people who are able to support themselves for a reasonable amount of time and know how to farm, and to keep out others who would burden the cities and increase the relief problem.

FOREIGN OFFICES
Canada has an immigration office in London and consulates in Liverpool, Glasgow and Belfast. On the continent offices have been continued in Paris, Antwerp and Gdynia, Poland.

The central European countries there are thousands of people anxious to come to Canada, particularly from Germany and Austria. However, most countries of central Europe will not allow migrants to take their capital out. So even if they are farmers, and few of them are, they cannot comply with the immigration regulations.

Urge Restriction Of Immigration To West Indies
PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Aug. 27.—Delegates at the sixth congress of the West Indian Federation of commerce unanimously adopted a resolution Friday urging restriction of foreign immigration into the British West Indies.

A second resolution urged a British empire preference for empire petroleum. Its sponsor, S. H. Banning of Trinidad, pointed out Trinidad was unable to enter the United States petroleum market because of the high tariff, yet the American oil entered Great Britain on equal terms with the Trinidad product.

Nazi Authorities Defied By Bishop
BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Mgr. Johann Baptist Serrill, Bishop of Rotterdam and head of the Roman Catholic church in Wurttemberg, Friday defied a Nazi order banning him from Wurttemberg territory.

He was ordered to leave the territory to vote last April in the plebiscite Anschluss with Austria. Reich authorities have refrained from ousting him by force.

SURVEYOR OF OLD FORT SITE FLYING NORTH

"Changed?" chuckled the Old Timer in reply to a reporter's question. "Why it is more than changed. It is an entirely new country now. Edmonton was just a fort and a few tents in those days. And I remember a Cree Indian chief explaining to me what a fine place the wooded country around Cooking Lake was in which to hide from the Blackfoot war parties. It was

Mr. Tyrrell surveyed the Lake Athabasca country in 1892 and after that surveyed the country around Hudson's Bay. After that he prospected in eastern Ontario.

"I am looking forward to my visit in the north. I imagine that the country north of here will be more like the wild lands I first saw when mapping this country," he said. "Some of the maps he made of this part of Alberta are still in use."

Little Orphan Annie

AT LAST, ANNIE, SHANGHAI AND ACE KNOW THAT GUDGE IS THE MAN WHO HIRED CALEB ALDEN KILLED, THIRTY YEARS AGO—BUT HOW CAN THEY PROVE IT? IT WOULD BE ONLY THE WORD OF A PROFESSIONAL GAMBLER, AS TO WHAT HE SAW AND HEARD AS A CHILD, AGAINST THE WORD OF THE RICHEST AND MOST POWERFUL MAN IN TOWN—

ACE SEEMS SO UNEASY THE PAST FEW DAYS—I WISH I KNEW WHAT CAN BE WORRYING HIM—

TCH! TCH! IT CAN'T BE ANYTHING SERIOUS—HOW COULD IT BE? HE HAS SUCH A FINE STEADY JOB AND HE'S DOING SO WELL—EVERYTHING IS RUNNING SO SMOOTHLY—

ONE OF THE TRUCKS WAS WRECKED AND BURNED UP AND THE DRIVER WAS KILLED—ANOTHER TRUCK DID IT, I HEAR—

OH, IT WAS JUST A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT—IT COULDN'T HAVE BEEN DONE ON PURPOSE—ACE SHOULDN'T LET IT WORRY HIM—

THEY SAY MR. GUDGE HAS STARTED ANOTHER TRUCK LINE IN OPPOSITION TO JACK—

WELL, THERE'S BUSINESS ENOUGH FOR BOTH, I'M SURE—YES, INDEED—AND ISN'T IT WONDERFUL HOW OUR DOUGHNUT BUSINESS HAS GROWN?

YEAH—IT WAS ONE OF GUDGE'S TRUCKS—CROWDED POOR JERRY'S TRUCK OVER THE SIDE INTO APPLE GULLY—THE POOR GUY NEVER HAD A CHANCE—

YES—THAT'S WHAT I HEARD, JACK—BUT NOTHING THAT CAN BE PROVED—NOT A THING—

BY THE WAY—GUDGE IS BACK IN TOWN—MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO SEE WHAT HE LOOKS LIKE—IF YOU SEE HIM ONCE YOU'LL NEVER FORGET HIM—

EH?—OH—SURE—WHY NOT? I'VE HEARD HE HAS A FACE ONE REMEMBERS—

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

MAJOR HOOPLE

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, SATURDAY, AUG. 27, 1938.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD "WILL-O'-THE-WISP" (IGNIS FATUUS)

THIS PHENOMENON HAS BEEN KNOWN AND DISCUSSED FOR CENTURIES... AND OBSERVED BY THOUSANDS... BUT IT STILL REMAINS A MYSTERY, AND SCIENTISTS ALMOST IGNORE IT.

MOST PERSONS WHO HAVE WITNESSED DISPLAYS, ESPECIALLY THOSE DURING THE TIMES WHEN GHOSTS AND SPIRITS WERE RESPECTED, WERE MUCH TOO FRIGHTENED TO DESCRIBE ACCURATELY WHAT THEY HAD SEEN.

REPORTS SEEM TO INDICATE THAT MARSHES FORM THE SETTING FOR MOST WILL-O'-THE-WISP DISPLAYS. CURIOUS FLAME-LIKE LIGHTS DANCE AND FLICKER IN THE AIR, SUSPENDED A FEW FEET ABOVE THE MURKY WATERS.

APPEARANCE OF THE LIGHTS IN ANCIENT CHURCHYARDS CAUSED SUPERSTITIOUS PEOPLE TO LINK THEM WITH SOULS OF THE DEAD.

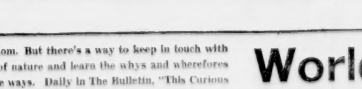

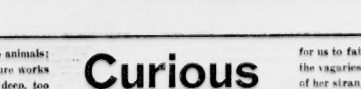

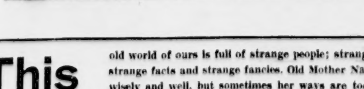

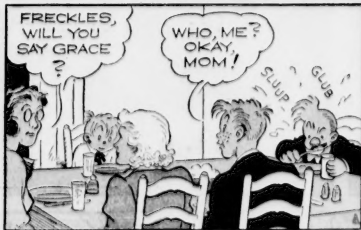

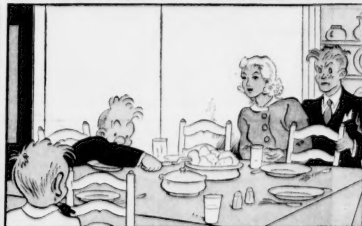

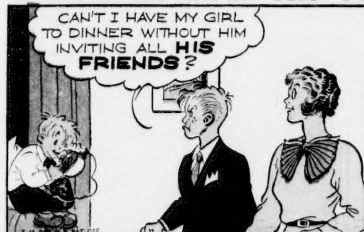

MANY SPECIES OF FUNGUS ARE KNOWN TO BE LUMINESCENT, AND SOME AUTHORITIES BELIEVE THAT WILL-O'-THE-WISP FLAMES CONSIST OF LUMINESCENT BACTERIA, CARRIED UP FROM MARSHES IN GAS BUBBLES.
